Phone Investigation Recording

Wang Ping: Hello

Investigator: Hey, hello, hello. Is this Director Wang Ping at the province’s hospital? Hey, I’m the one from Changzhou.

Wang Ping: Which one?

Investigator: Hey, I’m from Changzhou, and, I have a nephew, who has end stage cirrhosis, and he wants to change his liver.

Wang Ping: Uh.

Investigator: He is now in Hong Kong, and so am I right now.

Wang Ping: Your phone number seems to be a foreign number?

Investigator: I am now living in Hong Kong, because why...because I went to see him. I find him to be not energetic right now. I, I am thinking that if it is not improving, we should go back to do a liver transplant. Now I am actually calling you to ask whether your hospital still does it or not. How many [liver transplant operations] do you do? That is, after I come back, how long do I need to wait? I’d like to learn more about your situation.

Wang Ping: Okay, no problem. You just come, and directly come to see me, okay?

Investigator: Ah, what did you say?

Wang Ping: ... .. directly come to me. It’s ok, we often do this. This is our routine work, a routine thing, okay?

Investigator: Oh, oh, that is to say, how long do we have to wait?

Wang Ping: After you come, we can discuss it in detail. Well, well, you'll still have to find a solution. It's not that simple, okay?

Investigator: Oh, no, so it cannot be done immediately after our arrival, right? That is, we still need to wait for a month or two?

Wang Ping: I need to ... know [the patient's] blood type, understand [the patient's] condition, and then with you...

Investigator: He... his blood type is B.

Wang Ping: Type B is okay. It is relatively better for Type B [patients]. Type O is the most difficult.

Investigator: For a Type B [patient], can [a liver arrives] after waiting for one month?

Wang Ping: The prospects should be okay.

Investigator: The prospects are okay.

Wang Ping: Tell me about his situation and the situation with his blood type. I'll arrange it for you.

Investigator: As for us...As for me, is it better for me to go back first to show you his medical records, and then when a time is set up [for the operation], we'll ask him to come back?

Wang Ping: Hey, yes, yes, is it okay or not? Okay

Investigator: Did we do a lot this year? This year...

Wang Ping: We do a lot of these every year. Please rest assured. You know.

Investigator: Uh, but some hospitals [told me] ...you should wait in several queues ...to check which hospitals do more, then you would wait a shorter time.

Wang Ping: If you are really in a hurry, we can meet first, and I can figure out a solution for you, you know? Including Shanghai, these things all belong to one system of ours! I will try to help you think [of a solution], okay?

Investigator: Oh, oh, oh, that is, the technology of your hospital has no problem, you said, um.

Wang Ping: This is a very mature technology...

Investigator: ...That means, you can often...often do this type of surgeries, that is to say...

Wang Ping: We do this every week, don't worry.

Investigator: Oh.

Wang Ping: Right, right.

Investigator: You do it every week, then that means your technology is very good. Can you tell me the price? Approximately?

Wang Ping: 500,000 [yuan].

Investigator: Uh...500,000 [yuan]?

Wang Ping: We...about 500,000 [yuan], 500,000 yuan.

Investigator: And after being hospitalized, under normal circumstances, after how long can the patient be discharged? I also consider sending someone to [take care of] him, at home...

Wang Ping: About a month

Investigator: About a month, that should work, that should work. Great, thank you!

Wang Ping: After you come here, if you need, we can talk in more detail. Please rest assured.

Investigator: ... I will call you when I go back. Now I'm using a local mobile phone in Hong Kong...
