Phone Investigation Recording

Doctor: Hello!

Investigator: Hello! Is that Nanjing Drum Tower Hospital? Hello?

Doctor: May I ask where you are calling from?

Investigator: Hi, how are you? I...I have a patient, who wants to do a liver transplant.

How are you doing nowadays? Are there a lot of people waiting in line?

Doctor: Yes, we do have a lot!

Investigator: Oh. A lot! How long does the patient have to wait after coming to your hospital?

Doctor: Hard to say. Different blood types make a difference in wait times.

Investigator: Oh, he has Type B blood.

Doctor: Just a second! (Tang Ning! How long does a Type-B blood patient need to wait for liver transplant? Approximately how long for Type B?) Hang on one second please!

Investigator: Sure.

(Another doctor answered the phone.)

Investigator: Hello!

Doctor: Hi, how are you?

Investigator: Hi, doctor, I have a patient, who wants a liver transplant. He's currently in the late stage of liver cirrhosis. He wants to have a liver transplant in your hospital. So we want to know how long does he have to wait for the surgery?

Doctor: It is impossible to predict that, because Investigator: Oh?

Doctor: Sometimes, it is fast, sometimes fast and sometimes slow. You have to wait for donors. As long as you have available donors, it will be quick.

Investigator: It seems that more donors are readily available now than before, right? More transplant surgeries than before?

Doctor: Yes!

Investigator: But has your hospital done a lot of cases of liver transplant? How many can you do in a year?

Doctor: Between 40 to 50 cases.

Investigator: Oh, between 40 to 50 cases. Have you done any this year? How many have you done this year?

Doctor: Yes, we have done over 20 cases this year so far.

Investigator: Nowadays, the organ donors are healthier than the sources in the past, how about it? Healthy? Are there any health issues?

Doctor: Usually the donors are brain dead. If they had some other health issues, we wouldn't have used them.

Investigator: Oh, brain dead? So you use brain dead patients as organ donors, or do you have other organ sources?

Doctor: We have connections in Jiangsu, Anhui, Shandong and Henan Provinces, as far as organ donors are concerned. As long as donors are qualified, it shouldn't be a problem.

Investigator: Oh, they will contact you once they have brain dead people, right?

Doctor: That's right.

Investigator: Oh, do you know that the National Health Planning Commission have a website?

Doctor: It has a registration website, for all those organ donors to register online.

Investigator: Oh, you are not in direct contact with them, just obtaining the organ donors' information from the website?

Doctor: We have specialized organ coordinators, who contact the Red Cross Societies, instead of doctors.

Investigator: Ok. That's all I need. Thank you so much!

Doctor: Alright!

Investigator: Can I contact you later? What's your surname?

Doctor: My last name is Tang. You can come to find me directly when you come to our clinic. My last name is Tang.

Investigator: Ok, Doctor Tang, thank you very much! Bye now!

Doctor: Bye!
