Date: August 14, 2017 (Phone number: +86 189-2750-5696)

Summary

1. Last year Director Cao said the hospital became qualified to do kidney transplantation.
2. The hospital started doing kidney transplants this year, and they do a lot.
3. "We could do about 10 to 12 kidney transplants every month."
4. It is impossible to predict when there would be suitable kidney sources. "If someone tells you one month, two months, three months, they would all be lying."
5. Patients with Blood Type B are not difficult to find donors. Their organ wait time is shorter than others. The hospital did 6 kidney transplantations of Type B in the first half of this month.
6. The donors are distributed from the state organ allocation website.

Phone Investigation Recording

Doctor Meng: Hello?

Investigator: Hi, hello, Doctor Meng! Can you hear me?

Doctor Meng: Hello?

Investigator: Can you hear me now?

Doctor Meng: I can hear you.

Investigator: Yes. Hi, I have a patient, who wants to do a kidney transplant. (Meng: Okay.) I help him make this inquiry. He's in Guangdong.

Doctor Meng: Where is he now?

Investigator: He is from Shenzhen. But he came to Hong Kong for work.

Doctor Meng: Okay.

Investigator: I help him contact the hospital. I remember last year I called Director Cao and asked them if they had started doing organ transplantation. He said it was just approved. (Doctor Meng: Right.) I thought the patient should go to other hospitals, but there are too many patients waiting in other hospitals. So, I think maybe there are not too many patients waiting in your hospital. So I want to contact your hospital first, to see if you've started doing it this year. Because I called but the director was not here.

Doctor Meng: Uh-huh.

Investigator: So it means you already...

Doctor Meng: He could come!

Investigator: It started this year. Have you done many kidney transplants this year?

Doctor Meng: We did a lot!

Investigator: Did you do more than 100?

Doctor Meng: What?

Investigator: Over 100?

Doctor Meng: Not that many. No such hospital could do that many now.

Investigator: No? How many did you do roughly?

Doctor Meng: Please tell him to come directly. (Investigator: I want to check with you first that...) We will see his condition first.

Investigator: So...

Doctor Meng: You could, yes.

Investigator: Yes, go ahead?

Doctor Meng: We could do about 10 to 12 kidney transplants every month.

Investigator: Okay.

Doctor Meng: It is the largest number in Guangdong Province.

Investigator: Really? There are lots of hospitals, which can do the organ transplants in Guangdong. So...

Doctor Meng: Right. Right.

Investigator: So I called Director Cao last year, and I want to double check that if we decide to go there, compare to the other hospitals... I think you should have less patient in the line. You just started, maybe not everyone knows your qualification yet. So my opinion is... (Doctor Meng: Uh-huh.) coming to your hospital. Do you have a long line waiting? Relatively?

Doctor Meng: There are fewer people waiting compared to other hospitals. But still not too few.

Investigator: Okay. How long should we wait for the kidney transplantation?

Doctor Meng: It is hard to say. It depends on your blood type, the tissue typing, and the patient's luck!

Investigator: Oh.

Doctor Meng: One month, two to three months, or three to five months. We have all cases.

Investigator: Okay.

Doctor Meng: If someone tells you one month, two months, three months,

(Investigator: Okay.) they would all be lying.

Investigator: Oh, yeah?

Doctor Meng: That's impossible.

Investigator: Okay, so...

Doctor Meng: It is impossible to tell when we would have suitable kidneys. It can't be predicted. Those kinds are all deceptive!

Investigator: About the donation, are the organs from the Red Cross Society or the state's organ distribution network?

Doctor Meng: That's right. Right.

Investigator: Which one? Do you mean from the distribution network, or from the Red Cross Society?

Doctor: The distribution network.

Investigator: From the network?

Doctor Meng: Yes.

Investigator: So when will you have suitable donors? Then you could do the matching, right?

Doctor Meng: Correct.

Investigator: Can you guarantee the quality of the donors?

Doctor Meng: For sure.

Investigator: Is that so?

Doctor Meng: We don't use bad-quality organs. We never do harm to anyone.

Investigator: What is the price? Can you give me a quote?

Doctor Meng: Now we better... If you can't find him, you could come to talk to us.

Investigator: Okay.

Doctor Meng: Right. It is not very convenient to talk over the phone.

Investigator: Okay, alright.

Doctor Meng: If you are interested, you could make an appointment with us.

Investigator: Okay. I will let the patient know, and see what he thinks.

Doctor Meng: Okay.

Investigator: Okay, I will tell him.

Doctor Meng: Sure. What is his blood type?

Investigator: Type B.

Doctor Meng: B? It is not that hard to find Blood Type B.

Investigator: Type B? So the wait time for a patient with blood type B...

Doctor Meng: Okay.

Investigator: ...would be shorter?

Doctor Meng: The wait time for type B is shorter. We already did 6 B-type liver transplants in this month.

Investigator: You mean this month or last month?

Doctor Meng: This month.

Investigator: Okay. Have you already done 6 organ transplants of blood type B in the first half of this month?

Doctor Meng: Yes, yes!

Investigator: Okay. It looks like Type B donors are easy to get. It means it is hopeful for him, right?

Doctor Meng: Yeah.

Investigator: Right.

Doctor Meng: Yes. If you have a lot of patients... Actually, you can come here or they can come themselves.

Investigator: Okay.

Doctor Meng: But a lot of things are not good to disclose over the phone, okay?

Investigator: Okay. You're not far from us anyway.

Doctor Meng: Right.

Investigator: Okay. Thank you, Doctor Meng.

Doctor Meng: Okay. You could also add me on WeChat.

Investigator: Add you on WeChat? Your phone number is your WeChat account number?

Doctor Meng: Correct.

Investigator: You've got it. You did 10 or 20 kidney transplants. In this month alone, you did 6 cases. Then you should have done more than 20 kidney transplants, right?

Doctor Meng: It is impossible to do that many organ transplants every month. There is no such an average number.

Investigator: Okay, it means....

Doctor Meng: It is not possible that I can do as many as I want.

Investigator: Okay.

Doctor Meng: Alright?

Investigator: Maybe there are more cases this month so you did more. Sometimes it is less.

Doctor Meng: Exactly. If someone tells you a monthly standard, that hospital is lying for sure!

Investigator: Okay. You are very practical. Thank you. Bye-bye.

Doctor Meng: Uh-huh.
