Phone Investigation Recording

Investigator: Hello, Doctor Liao, this is Doctor Liao Jixiang, right?

Doctor Liao: Hi, Hello.

Investigator: I would like to ask you if, if our No. 303 Hospital can still do kidney transplantation?

Doctor Liao: Lung? Yes, we can.

Investigator: You can.

Doctor Liao: Did you just say lung or kidney?

Investigator: I am saying that the donor, the kidney source, must be good.

Doctor Liao: Oh, generally speaking, if the donor organs are used by us, they must be very good.

Investigator: Oh, very good [organs]. Where [are they from], in general? Donor [organs] donated at the Red Cross?

Doctor Liao: Well, they are not from the Red [Cross]...but similar, anyway there is a set of national procedures to follow. That is, for organ donation, they are usually from braindead patients.

Investigator: Ah, that's right, that's right. What did you say? The state has a...website, right? Organ donation website?

Doctor Liao: Oh, yes.

Investigator: Then you said, you just said, you get the organs from the state's system, this system. Oh, can we get in to take a look?

Doctor Liao: I...I have no idea about this, because even for us, there is a password. I, I, I really don't know. It should be impossible. It should be administrated by someone.

Investigator: Oh, even people like you doctors can't login, right? I can't even see [the data]?

Doctor Liao: We have someone especially doing this, too, the system has someone specifically administrating the data.

Investigator: Well, well, two more questions. One is about the fees, how much? For one surgery?

Doctor Liao: For kidney transplantation?

Investigator: Yes.

Doctor Liao: For kidney transplantation, before reimbursement, it's about 300,000 yuan.

Investigator: What do you mean by "before reimbursement"? I don't get it, reimbursement?

Doctor Liao: It means for the 300,000 yuan, you can actually get money back, if you have bought medical insurance in the country.

Investigator: Oh, oh, oh, I see. Ok, I got you. People mentioned to me about the death-row prisoners and the kind from the judicial system, when they knew that I want to do this. Can we still use this type, just like before? And I was told that this type was good.

Doctor Liao: In 2015, the government banned [the use of this type of organs]. We don't have a single case like this. We really don't have any now.

Investigator: Oh, you mean the state stipulated that this type couldn't be used to do surgeries? It was allowed in the past, right?

Doctor Liao: Yes, yes, yes, yes.....

Investigator: Oh, for that kind of [Falun] Gong practitioners, death-row prisoners, you could do operations [with their organs] in the past, but now you can't? They are willing. They told me, "you'd better spend some more money to get this kind of relatively good [organs]. You discuss with the hospital..."

Doctor Liao: Ah, no, no more...

Investigator: Have you done a lot this year? This year, your hospital.

Doctor Liao: Yes, yes, I've done a lot.

Investigator: Several hundred cases, this year?

Doctor Liao: Hmm, hmm...anyway, there should have been more than 120 cases of organ transplantation.

Investigator: Oh.

Doctor Liao: I don't have the exact number. I just count the cases after a certain period of time. I don't know the total number in this period.

Investigator: Well, you said that you had done more than 100 cases this year, right? That's good, you're doing well.

Doctor Liao: Yes, yes, yes....

Investigator: Ok, good. Thank you, Doctor Liao. Sorry for bothering you. Good, bye, bye.

Doctor Liao: Oh, you are welcome, never a bother. Ok, bye.

Investigator: Bye.
